The south side of the 200 block of E. Cross St. is improved with a variety of house types ranging in date from the late 1830's to the 1870's and 1880's. 221-223 E. Cross St. is a pair of two story plus attic brick houses built in the early 1850's. To the west, at 219 E. Cross St. there is a two story, two bay wide gable-roofed brick house built in the 1860's; at 217 E. Cross St. there is a three story, two bay wide brick house with shed roof and bracketed cornice representing a post-Civil War remodeling of an 1855 house; at 215 E. Cross St. there is a late Victorian two story, three bay wide brick house with shed roof and Italianate bracketed cornice representing either an 1880's remodeling or replacement of the original 1850's house on the site; and at 213 E. Cross St. there is a two story, two bay wide gable-roofed brick house similar to that at 219 E. Cross St. and also built in the 1860's. Across Durst Alley to the west there is a three story, two bay wide gable-roofed brick house at 211 E. Cross St.; a pair of two story, two bay wide gable-roofed houses at 207-209 E. Cross St. built in the 1850's; a three story, two bay wide brick house with shed roof and bracketed cornice, now covered with aluminum siding, at 205 E. Cross St., which probably represents an enlargement of an 1840's or 1850's house; and finally a pair of two story, two bay wide late Federal style houses (though currently without dormer windows) built in the late 1830's by the Dempster family at 201-203 E. Cross St. Only one house of an original row of ten two story, two bay wide brick houses with shed roofs built along the east side of Durst Alley in the 1850's survives at 1115 Durst Alley. These houses were probably built by William Webb, the builder of the row of two story plus attic houses on the front portions of the lots at 1110-1124 Battery Ave.

This three story, two bay brick house with shed roof and modillion cornice seems to have been built c. 1870 as a shed roofed house. It was built on this site in the 1840's and formed part of a group of such houses extending along the side of Chase St.

The house is three stories in height, 12 1/2' wide, and occupies a lot 66' deep. There is a three story high, one bay wide and deep stair hall extension which connects the main house to a two story high, two bay deep rear addition, followed by a one story high, one bay deep frame addition. The house is constructed in running bond. The shed roof is capped by a wooden cornice consisting of a deeply projecting crown molding set above a row of grooved modillions and a plain frieze area. If the cornice had end brackets at one time there are no longer extant. There is a single hooded chimney located on the east side of the house, along the center section of the roof. There is also a rear end chimney located at the south end of the rear addition.

All of the door and window openings have splayed brick lintels and wood sills. All of the window openings are filled with 1/1 double hung sash. A modern panel door with upper lights is set beneath a single light transom which has been covered over. The house sits on a low basement, the entrance being reached by one stone step. A rectangular basement opening is located to the left of the steps. A flat-roofed alleyway runs back under the westernmost bay of the house.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT George Lang

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This house is significant as being one of a fairly small group of Victorian style houses built in the Federal Hill area after the Civil War. The house seems to have been built by an individual owner for his own use, or to hold as rental property and may have replaced an earlier structure on this site. The builder was George Lang, a butcher.¹
